A Point on which all Physicians Agree. Out of ten thousand regular physicians you cannot fine one who will not say that Stimu anis an 1 Invigorants in by gone years, human practidoners have hesitate to administer them, because the flendish ingennity of wretches who make merchandise of human infirmitie had so poliuted and deteriorated them that the remedy was deemed as dangerous as the disease. This perple the first analytical chemists of the age have demonstr ted the fact, that WOSTELTER'S ORLEBRATED STOM ACH BITTERS are absolutely and entirely free from all perulcious elements. Hence they have been introduced into the United States Army, and are accepted, whereon the testimony of the wise, the intelligent and philar thrould is rated at its just value, as the best protective against and cure for all diseases arising from impurity in the air or other unhealth; climate influences, that ha ever been tested by experience. Cleanse the Blood. WITH CORRUPT, DISCRDERED or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over It may burst out in I' mples, or Sores. for in some active disease, or it may mercly keep you listless, depressed and good fernothing. Butyoucannot have good health while your blood is impure. ATRE'S SARSA-PARILLA purses cut these impurities and stirmlates the organs of life into vigorous action, rectoring the health nd expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by imparity of the blood, such as Screfula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Ul-cers, Sores, Exuptions, Pimples, Blotches Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Tetter, or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Femule Diseases, such a Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venerial Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases, T.y ATRE'S SARSAPA R LLA, and see for yo reself the surprising activity wit. which it cleanes the blood and cures these disorders. foring the late years the public have been misled by arge bottles, precending to give a quart of Extract c rsaparilia for one dollar Blost of these have been frauds npon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Zaisaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsapartlla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this computed "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as she'l respect to name from the load of blogby which rests upon it. We think we have ground or believing it has virtues which are irredicible by the ordinare ran of the discusses it is intended to cure. We an ouly assure the sick that we effer them the best dierally which we know how to produc, and we have ceason to believe it is by far the most effectal purific of the blood yet discovered by anybody.

Arrival of Paraled Prisaners from Vicksburg. NEW YORK, April 24. Business in this city was generally sur-pended on the arrival of the funeral train. Broadway was crammed to its utmest by people auxious to winces the funeral car and the accompanying escort. The windows and housetops were filled with people. The ut-most quiet prevailed and the dense masses remained uncovered as the procession slowly wended its way to the City Hall. The hearse, which was drawn by six horses, on arriving in front of the City Hail, was relieved of the comb by eight soldiers, who conveyed it to the Covernell of the Cover the Governor's room.

One thousand singers sung a dirge as it was borne to its resing place. The city hell in its interior is elaborately draped and a stooned with mourning emblems. The room in which the remalos of the President are deposited is thoroughly draped in black, the center of the celling is douted with sliver stars, relieved by black. The drapery is ficished with heavy sliver fringe; the curtains are of black slik velvet, fringed with sliver, and gracefully velvet, fringed with allver, and gracefully copped. The coffin rests on a dais, on an inclined plane, the inclination belog such that the isce of the departed partiet is in view of the visitors while passing, for two or three minutes. The coffin was laid on the dais in the preserce of Generals Dix, Burnside, Van Viet, Peck, Ullman, Sundford, Towesend, Acjutant Spaiding, Commodore Mead, Rice, members of the press, and a number of emisent civilians.

ent civillans The embalmers then rearranged the bedy ch bad been comewhat disurbed by the iffording a view of the face and upper part of the breast. Wreaths of immortelies were paced in the coffit by laddes present. At 1 o'clock guards were placed, and the eneral public allowed to view the remains Incappearance of the deed President bear-to marks of pain, but the eyes are number-and be toe somewhat discolored and sallow bout the lower part, and dark around to eyes and checks, with the lips very tightly compressed.

The remains will not sgain be exposed to view till their arrival at apringfield. Then-sands are in the streets, awaking an opportunity to view for the last time the face of Abrahim Lincoln, but the arringements for this purpose have been so poorly conceived and wretchedly carried out that thousands will be disappointed nothwithstanding they will be on view all night and until noon to will be on view all night and until noon to

The arrangements for the procession to morrow are on an immenesscale, and it will, from present advices, comprise from fity to a venty thousand people on loot. The refrects through which it is to pass are to be cleared at which the council of the procession will be formed 20 deep. Minute gnue will be fired during its passage and belie oiled. The railtrary portion will comprise 10,000 soldlers. Additional discretions of mouraing have been placed on all the hotels and buildings, throughout the clay and the cay will be exemptively devoted by our community to a less tribute of a clean respect to the remains of the great departed. We are in sight of Newark, the private res lences and public buildings ond the stor idences and public buildings and the stores are some of them eishora ely draped, with figs at half-mast, and other evidences of corrow exhibited. Among the more prominent features was the United States Hospital enit ably draped. In it not were a large number of soldiers, some of them on crucines. All the patterns who could move were drawn up in double file; every one of them stored uncovered and seemed to be deeply affected by the touching specific's. A 10 o'clock we arrived all James Cl. No. High Labout 12 and 12 and 12 and 13 and 14 and 15 could give due effect to the coremonies of the cossion. The coffin was removed from the hearse car by eight soldlers, it was partly covered with Union flags and with flawers in presence of the military and of civilians, in-sending the escert, which had followed the remains from Washington. It was slowly carried between open ranks, while many male olces sung a functal hymn.

All heads were uncovered when the corpse was leaving the station again. The Harmonia and the Hoboken Quartette Cubs, forming a chorus of about 200 voices, and a funeral dirgs at Jersey Cly. The Joint of multice of the Common Council of New York, with the sulfre Common Council, his Honer, the Mayor, and a delegation of the officials of the Mayor, and a delegation of the officials of the State, and met previous to the arrival of the train. The remains were received on behalf of the State of New York by Hon Coauncey M. DePaw, Secretary of State, and then consigned to the care of the committee. The hearse was placed on the terryboat and laker charge of by M. J. Gan. D.x. An the boat neared the city or new York the bells were chimed and tolled and minusegues were fired. On the arrival of the remains at Del Ross street, the Seventh regiment National Guarde acting as the guard of honor, escared the crity to the nall, where the united German Societies, numbering nine hundred voices, or Societies, numbering nine handred voices, oc capied the steps and phoes in front of the city hall, chanted dirges appropriate to the occasion. The remains were soon thereafter exposed to the public view. Thousands of persons visited the entantico to view the body. Washington, April 24. This morning a delegation of loyal South-erners called on the President by appointment Every Southern State was represented, and he delegation was introduced by Judge Underwood, of Virginia, who said the visitor were for the most part exites, but they hope abortly to relurn, as the recent niterances of shortly to return, as the recent interances of the President had encouraged that hope, and that they would not cavise the hanging of all, but the leaders should be punished. President Johasen, in reply, said his feelings fully accorded with those of the delegation that justice should be meted out to the leaders of this nefarious rebellion. On secount of the peculiar circumstances under which he had assumed the relus of edition is position was somewhat embarrassing, and he therefore thanked his visitous for the encouragement they officed. He could only returned what he had said upon former eccasions—that he knew what mercy and pardoning power was, for he had heretofore occupied an executive position, and he had been accused of leaning too much to the side of mercy, but the pardoning power should be used only with stern justice.

The time had come when the American peo-ple should understand the true character of crime of treason. The idea had been prompt gated, and by the leaderr of the rebelilou hemselves, and that they would accome suf-decently lambus. These med were the aris tocracy of the South. God protect the people from such an artistorney as that. Reterring to assassition of the President, President Johnson attributed it to the fell cylrit pervading the rebellion. President Lincoln was individually but one man, a ud to one would hesitate to say he who takee the life of one man should ferselt life.

The steamer City of Washington from Livery 234, 6 sail the troubles between the government and rebel troubles between the government and rebel cruizers. The Shenandoah's application to repair was granted, and the vessel was placed on the slip and work proceeded with. On the 13th of February, however, a police warrant was issued for the arrest of British subjects alleged to have been edited on the Shenandoah. The efficers of the vessel refused to let the warrant be execused. Orders were then issued that British subjects should cease working on repairs, and a strong police was placed to see the order carried. Subsequently all persons who had illegally joined the crew well removed from the vessel and the repairs allowed to proceed. The ship would be ordered to leave port at the earliest date. Cousiderable excisement had attended the sfiar. The London Times points out the hardship inflicted on shippers by Seward's order that vessels arriving is America many passengers upprovided with passports are not showed to discharge their cargoes.

The second secon THE LESING THE OLD COUPLE.

It stands in a sunny meadow.

The house so mossy and brown,
With its cumbries old stone chimneys,
And the gray roof aloping down. The trees fold their green arms around it.
The trees, a century old:
And the winds go chauting through them,
And the sunbeams drop their gold.

The cows'ips spring in the marshes, And the roses bloom on the bill, And beside the bro k in the pastures The herds go f.eding at will.

The children have gone and left them, Thy sit in the sun alone: Thy sit in the sun alone: and the old wife's cars are failing, And she barks to the well-known tone, That wou her heart in her gl thood,
That has coothed her in many a care,
And protect her now for the brightness
Berod face used to wear.

She thinks again of her bridal— How, dreated in her r be of white, She to d by her gay young lover, In the morn ng's resy light.

Oh, the morning is rosy as ever,
But the rose from her chiek is fied,
And the sunshine still is goiden;
But it falls on a silvered head. And the giribood dreams once vanished, tome back in her winter time, Till her fe-hie pailse trembles With their thrid of spring time's prime.

And looking forth from the window, She thinks how the trees have grown, Since, clad lo her brids! whit-ness, She crossed the o'd door-stone.

Though dimmed her eve's bright szure, And dimmed her harr's young gold, he love in her girlhood plighted. Has never grown dim or old.

They sat in peace in the enuchine, he day was a most done, And to n at its close, an angel btole ove the thresho d stone.

He folded their hands together— fre touched their eyelids with balm And their last breath float dupward, Like the close of a solemn pealm.

Like a bridal pair they traversed The unness, mysilcal road, That leads to the beautimicity, "Whose builder and maker is God!" Perhaps la that mirac's country.
They will give ner lost youtb back.
And the flowers of a vanished spring.
Will bloom in the spirit's track.

One drought from the living waters
Shal call back his manhood's prin
And eternal years shall measure
The ove that outlyed lime.

But the shades that they left behind them The wrink es and silver hair, Mane boly to us by the kisses The angel had printed there,

We will hide sway 'neath the willows, When the day le low in the west, Where the sunbeams cannot fied them, Nor the winds disturb their rest. And we'll suff a no tel stale tombetone, With its age and date, to fire for the two who are aid no longer. In the Father's House in the skice

It is difficult to understand what motives could have prompted Booth to the commis sion of the great crime of which he stands accused. There seems to be no doubt that it was a long-cherlshed design, and that it was to have been executed at least a month Pacific coast. He was married twice, first to Miss Clementina DeBar, an Irish actress, from Dublin, and reputed to have been one of the most beautiful women of her day. They subsequently separated, and Mr. Booth fended by a large and well-appointed army, under a consummate general. He who could lend himself to so dark and damnable an enterprise, could have, at have completed a two weeks' engagement at least, pleaded that the result of the confusion and excitement produced by the for the terrible news which associated the removal of the fountain head of Executive family name inseparably with the cruel as- authority would be favorable to the Confederate cause, and arouse the South from its desponding lethargy. But he has not even this poor excuse to offer. The crime was committed at a moment when rehearsal, totally unaware of what had the loss of no one, or a dozen men, could, An excited crowd had already in so much as a hair, affect the result; when, clamored at the door for him, torn down the Indeed, all being given up as lost to the rebelliou, the insurgents were themselves looking forward to peace, and placing their play, and that no performance would be had trust in the elemency and large-hearted that evening. When he appeared on the magnanimity of the Executive, for terms as little humiliating and penal in their character as it was in his power to grant. At the moment the assassin's toe oertain bullet sped on its fatal mission, there was no man in authority to whom the insur gent leaders, and their followers, could look with more confidence in their hour of need. It would, indeed, be very fortunate claim to know him, and speak advisedly, to for them if it could be proven that this in-be a Union man, without a tinge of secession famous deed was the freak of two or three crazy fanatics, who plotted it themselves, without instigation from the rebel authorities, and was executed in an insane desire 10 gain notoriety, no matter by what means But such, we anticipate, will not prove to be the case. The incidents of the double assessination, the preparation to escape, everything, in fact, connected with it, indicates deliberate prepration, secretiveness caution and probably the contemplation of more bloody purpose than the death of two members of the Administration. Asit stands history fails to present us an instance of assassination more dastardly, more cowardly, more revolting in all its details, than that which has filled the land with mourning, and all hearts with the very gall and wormwood of bitterness. There will be no rest for the authors of this crime. The very alr will babble of them, and the sea cast them upon the shore. They may hide in the mountains, but justice will track ceal them, nor the untermost parts of the earth secrete them from that retribution which will terribly overtake and consume them. And in the future, no names will be more abhorred, execuated and hated than those of the assassins of the President and his Prime Minister.

THE RICHEST BEQUEST OF ALL .-- The closing paragraph of the last will and testament of the noble and Christian patriot, Patrick Henry, shows the profound veneration he felt for the religion of the Cross:

I have now disposed of all my property whose treasonous and bloody purpose our signed to death one for whom millions mourn to-day, and domed himself to be more heartily detested and ex-crated than more heartily detested and ex-crated than in his study, and refusing admittance to his would be rich; and if they had not that and I had given them all the world, they would be poor.
